Greg has been practicing intellectual property law since 2006, and has worked with clients ranging from solo inventors and start-ups to Fortune 50 companies. His practice focuses on U.S. and international patent prosecution and intellectual property strategic planning. His patent experience includes drafting and prosecuting patents in a variety of technology areas including computer software and hardware, handheld and telephony devices, as well as medical and mechanical devices.

Atlanta

In addition to drafting and prosecuting key patents for various clients, Greg has prepared and assisted in preparing freedom to operate opinions for clients considering the development of new business units. He has also assisted in evaluating large patent portfolios and drafting infringement opinions analyzing the infringement of clients' patents by competitors.
